

The rules governing ownership of media outlets were passed for a reason and I urge you not to change those rules. The media plays huge part in manipulating public opinion and to move to a position where more media outlets are owned by fewer and fewer influential media moguls is a very dangerous and non-democratic effort. You do not own the airwaves - neither does Rupert Murdoch - they are owned by the American people and we are entitled to see, read and hear a variety of opinions and ideas. Please keep the rules in place, for the sake of the future of this country.
